About Little Theatre of Watertown

Founded in 1931, The Little Theatre of Watertown is one of the oldest established community theaters in New York State, with the presentation of The Enemy by Channing Pollock on November 5 and 6, 1931. Little Theatre was formed to afford the citizens of this community an opportunity to study drama; produce theatrical enterprises; foster the natural talents of those interested in play production and management; and to study of all branches of stagecraft. We offer a wide range of productions each year.
